

Suggested reads to find out more about our topic about crime and punishment.

These books are all suitable for children in years five and six and cover different periods of history that we will be covering. The three Terry Deary books are shorter stories, and the other books are novels. There are a variety of non-fiction books which are also available, such as aspects of British History Beyond 1066: Crime and Punishment Through the Ages by Ben Hubbard or Crime and Punishment by David Spence.

All of these books are currently available on Amazon as well as in book shops.
