Dear Parents

Happy New Year! I hope you all had a fantastic Christmas and New Year. The following is a rough guide of what is happening this half term. If you have any questions, please ask and we will try our best to help.

Mornings

The children have settled into the routines very well but please still encourage them to independently complete their jobs. Please encourage your children to find an activity quickly at one of the tables which will be usually based around developing their fine motor skills. These will change weekly and will focus on developing different skills. Once your child is settled at a table please don't hover around as we will be asking children to come and complete different jobs to support their learning so it is really important that the children are on time and put their things away quickly. Obviously if it is something urgent please do make sure you speak to us.

If children bring in a snack, could you please remind them to put it in their drawer so they can get to it easily during the day rather than leaving it in their book bags. Please keep your child's snack to something small as they don't have a lot of time to eat it and have a run around at playtime. It would also help if they put hats, gloves and scarves in their drawers to get to easily and please make sure they are named and are in school everyday throughout the winter as we don't have enough spares for everyone.

PE

Our PE will be on a Monday and a Friday this half term. One of these will be yoga and a multi-skills session with Paul from NUFC. The timetable as always is flexible, so please leave PE kits in school all week and please make sure it is still all named.

Reading and keywords

The children are enjoying the shared library books and their school reading books. We will still be changing books on a Thursday and a tick, initial or comment is needed to let me know that they have read to you, in order for me to change their book. Please remember as a school we are aiming for children to read at home at least 3 times per week. The children have made great progress already with their reading and recognition of sounds and sight words on the red cards. More of these will be sent home throughout the term to keep learning. It is still really important to encourage children to sound out words which they are unfamiliar with but starting to encourage them to sound out words in their head before reading them. This is a skill we will be learning during Read Write Inc this half term and the children will remember it as 'Fred in your head' as we want the children to become independent readers and not rely on sounding out everything they read. Once I feel they are ready I will 'benchmark' to assess whether they should move up to the next colour book level. This process involves retelling the story without visual clues, answering comprehension questions, using picture clues to help with unfamiliar words as well as phonics and sight word recognition. The texts we use are unfamiliar to the children so we get an accurate level of assessment knowing which areas the children still need to work on if they do struggle. Please remember all children develop at their own pace and not all children are assessed at the same time in the week or term so don't not compare with other children in the class.

Topics

Over this half term we will probably be covering the following themes, Transport and Chinese New Year with an ongoing focus of Winter as the seasons continue to change. However if the children's interests change, we may make slight changes along the way. We encourage children to bring in stories and items for show and tell but please make sure that these are linked to the topic/focus.

As always if you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask myself or Mrs Parker.
