

As a school, we were all very excited to be able to join together to celebrate Christmas, without having to be separated into isolated class groups.

This meant, that for the first time since 2019, we had a whole school Christmas play, a Christmas lunch and a party.

Our Christmas play this year was called Lights, Camel, Action and was based on the theme of Strictly Come Dancing, whilst telling the Christmas story. We all worked really hard to learn lines, songs and dances. The children in St. Andrew's class were the main characters, and the rest of school all learnt songs and dance routines that were performed throughout the show. We put on three performances for our families and each show ended with the whole school performing a song, with actions, together.

The RAF kindly organised a party for us in school. In the morning we had lots of party games with prizes, dancing and even a bit of karaoke. There was a photo booth where we could have pictures taken with funny hats and glasses and the hall was decorated with disco lights.

In the afternoon we had a visit from an amazing magician who did all kinds of tricks and even managed to make the teachers jewellery appear in his pockets! Some of the children were invited up on stage to take part in the show and perform tricks.

We finished the week with a delicious Christmas lunch. The tables in the hall were all decorated, and we invited the school governors to come and eat with us. The children in Year 6 served our lunches to us and we enjoyed sitting with children from different classes. After lunch, the whole school walked up to church where we took part in a Christingle service, and the church was illuminated by the light of the candles from the Christingles we had made.

We hope you all had a peaceful Christmas and we wish everyone a happy New Year.
